The outdoor spaces are equally impressive, with expansive terraces and patios, ideal for enjoying the 320 days of sunshine that the Costa del Sol is renowned for. Panoramic views of the sea, mountains, and golf course are a standard feature in all the homes. Some properties also include infinity pools, surrounded by sustainable Mediterranean gardens that require minimal water and are perfectly adapted to the local environment.

Located at the base of the majestic Sierra Bermeja, these villas offer a peaceful retreat immersed in nature. Yet, they are just a short drive from Estepona's vibrant marina and charming old town, and less than 30 minutes from the luxury of Puerto Banus and Marbella. Estepona, a key part of the Golden Triangle alongside Marbella and Benahavis, is celebrated for its lively atmosphere, historic charm, and a wealth of leisure options, from beach clubs to golf courses.

Known as Europe's golf capital, it has over 60 golf courses within an hour's drive, including the world-renowned Valderrama course in nearby Sotogrande. For those who value connectivity, Malaga International Airport is just an hour away, offering flights to over 130 destinations worldwide.
