With elevation, orientation and privacy at the forefront of the design, these new build townhouses for sale in Elviria, Marbella with sea views present a structured approach to contemporary Mediterranean living, created for buyers who value natural light, architectural clarity and a well-established coastal setting. Occupying a raised position just three kilometres from the beach, the development balances open horizons with practical proximity to restaurants, amenities and social hubs that characterise this part of the Costa del Sol.

The development consists of 113 contemporary townhouses designed to adapt to the natural rise of the land, with the elevation carefully integrated to maximise light and horizon lines. Approximately half of the residences enjoy direct sea views, while the remainder benefit from lateral sea or mountain perspectives. Articulated volumes, varied façades and landscaped retaining walls introduce rhythm and distinction, resulting in an appearance closer to contemporary standalone homes.
