Also on this level is a spacious bedroom suite with a dressing area and a bathroom finished with double basins and a walk-in shower, making it suitable for guests or for those who prefer accommodation on the main floor. Upstairs, three additional bedrooms each have their own bathroom. The principal suite includes a walk-in wardrobe and open views towards La Concha and the Mediterranean. One guest bedroom leads onto a south facing terrace with sea views, while another looks directly to the stunning mountain.

Marbella's most glamorous chapter began on the Golden Mile, the stretch of coastline that first drew international aristocracy, royalty and Hollywood figures to the area. What started as an exclusive retreat for the jet set has evolved into one of the most established and desirable addresses in southern Spain. Property along the Golden Mile continues to rank among the most sought after in the province, not only for its history but for its location and lifestyle.

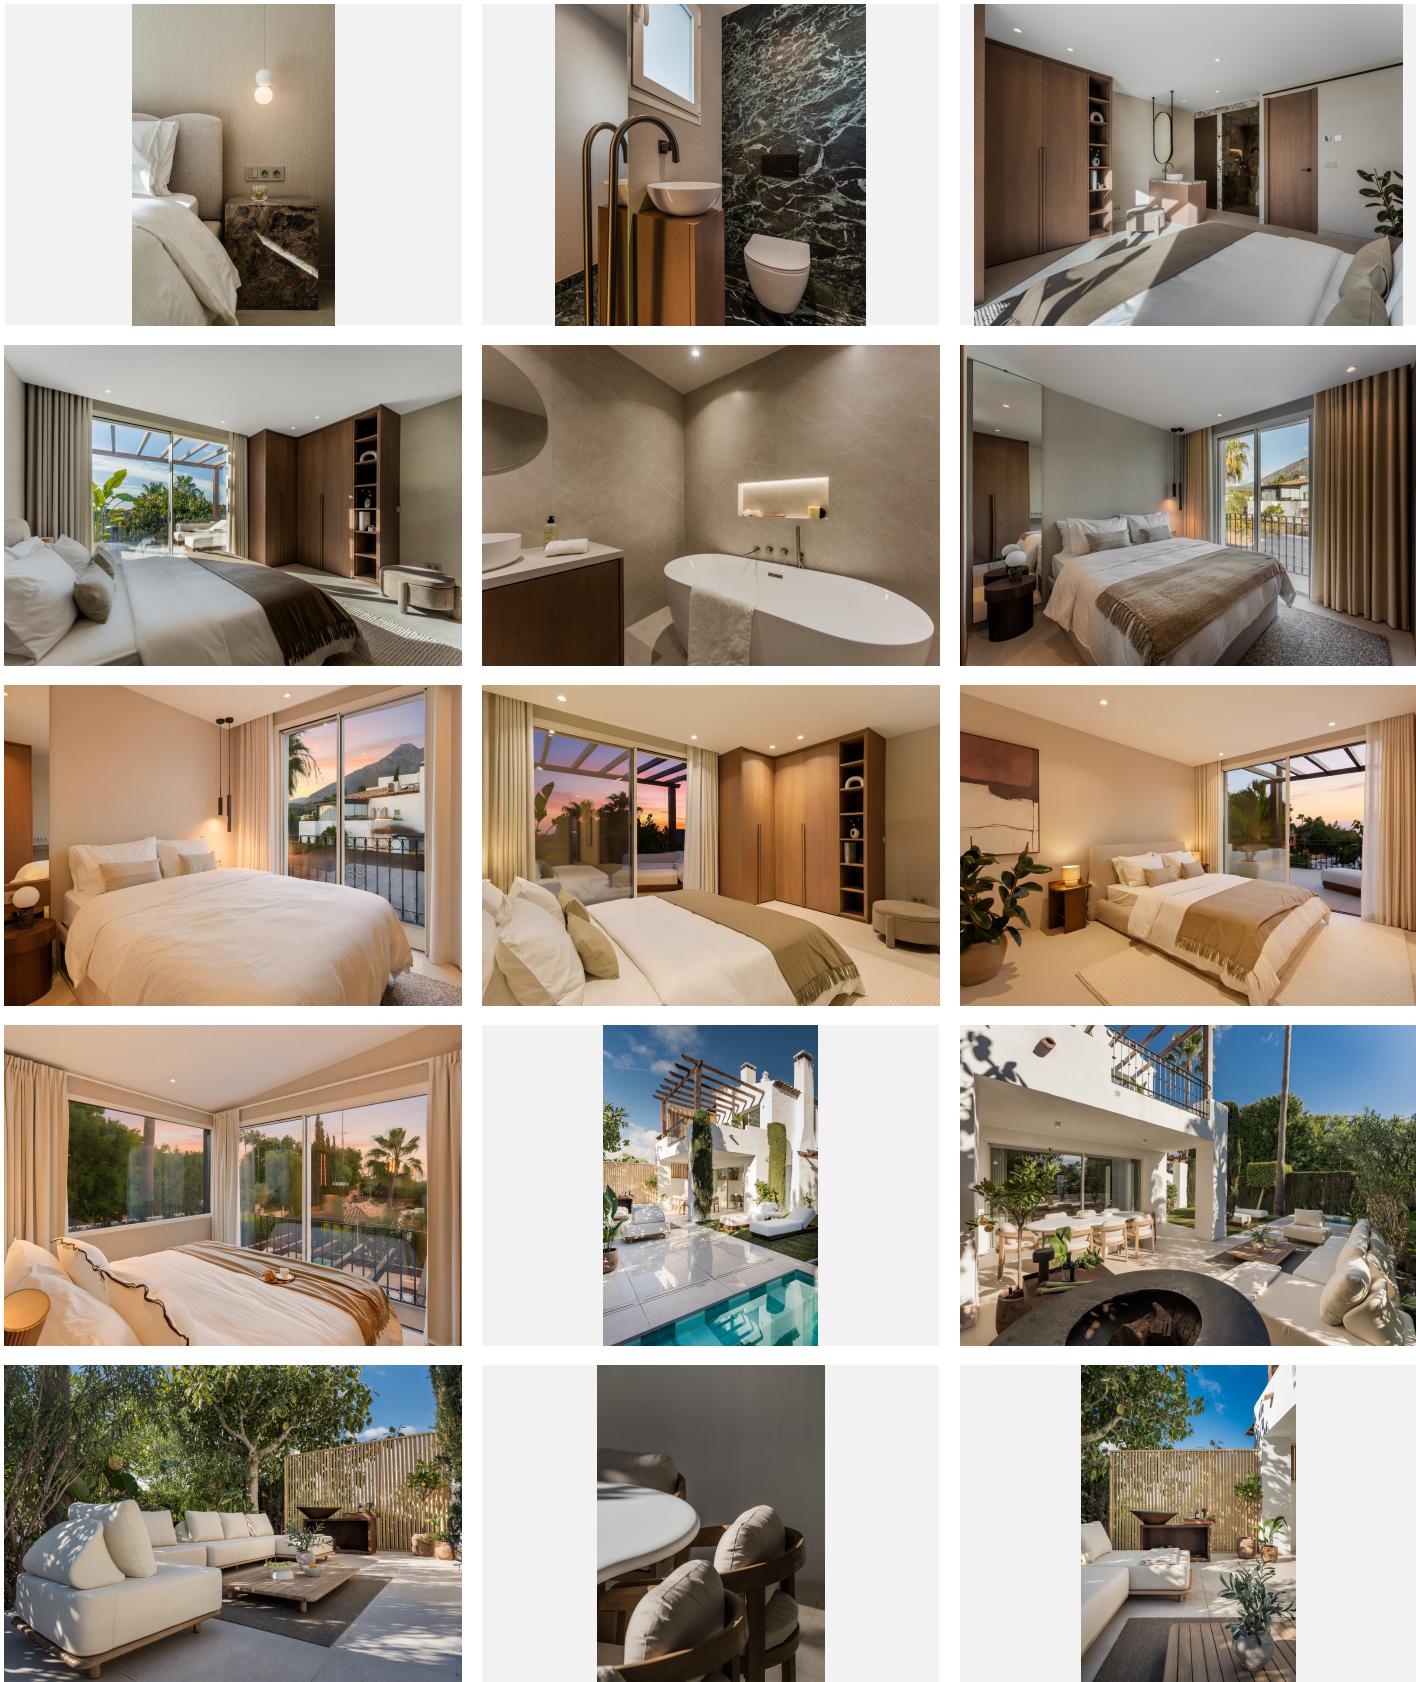

The area spans approximately five kilometres of coastline with wide sandy beaches, beach clubs and promenade walks, while several of the coast's most respected golf courses lie just minutes away. Malaga Airport can be reached in around thirty minutes, Puerto Banus is a ten-minute drive, and the town centre is nearby, making the Golden Mile both practical and highly connected.

Owning a property in this setting goes beyond the convenience of location. It is a chance to live on a stretch of coastline that has defined Marbella's elegance and prestige, and this villa provides that exceptional opportunity.
