Architecture and setting come together in this luxury villa for sale in La Quinta, Benahavis with panoramic views occupying a striking south facing position overlooking the Mediterranean and the mountains. Located within a gated residential community and comprehensively renovated in 2022, the villa introduces a composed architectural language that balances contemporary design with subtle Andalusian influence.

Arranged across three levels, the interior emphasises volume and clarity. Polished marble floors are complemented by warm timber elements and restrained contemporary finishes, creating an environment that feels calm and structured. The main living areas are organised as a broad open composition linking the lounge, dining space and designer kitchen, allowing movement and light to flow naturally across the floor.

The kitchen introduces a more technical dimension to the interior, equipped with Danespan appliances and custom cabinetry designed to balance precision with usability. Positioned alongside the dining area, it remains visually connected to the principal living space while opening directly onto the surrounding terraces.

Seven impeccable bedrooms are distributed throughout the property, each incorporating its own en suite bathroom and generous proportions. Materials, lighting and detailing remain consistent across all levels, creating a unified interior language that prioritises comfort and clarity.

Externally, the architecture unfolds across a sequence of broad terraces arranged around an impressive swimming pool that forms the focal point of the exterior setting. These spaces take advantage of the villa's height and orientation, opening towards long views across the coastline and mountains while providing multiple areas for dining, relaxation and social gatherings. The pool terrace is further supported by a barbecue area and outdoor seating zones designed for extended use throughout the year.

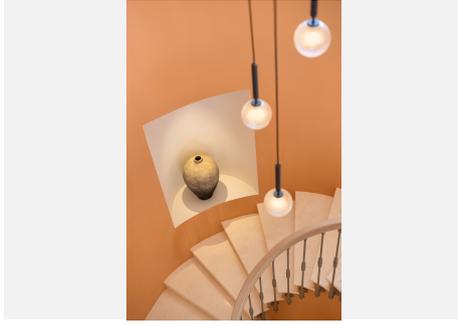

La Quinta forms part of Benahavis, a municipality widely regarded as one of the Costa del Sol's most desirable residential areas. Surrounded by golf courses and natural hillsides, the neighbourhood offers a quieter environment while remaining closely connected to the coast. San Pedro de Alcántara provides international schools, restaurants and daily services, while the beaches, marina and nightlife of Puerto Banus, along with the wider attractions of Marbella and Estepona, are all within easy driving distance.

A property where position, scale and outlook combine to define a home of lasting architectural presence within the Benahavis landscape.
